

ADMISSION GUIDELINES FOR APPLICANTS TO THE PERMANENT DIACONATE ROMAN CATHOLIC DIOCESE OF LEXINGTON (Class of 2016)

The following are guidelines to be used in recommending men for admission to the Permanent Diaconate Formation program for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Lexington.

One of the best recommendations a man can bring to the diaconate is a history of selfless service to his neighbors. This does not exclude, for instance, service as an usher, extraordinary minister or cantor, but hopefully, will include a wider range of service through Church and community. We should look for men who already serve with a “diaconal heart” and, as such, are recognized by the Christian community. The applicant should have a history of participation in his parish.

It is expected that applicants will:

- Have a good spiritual life and a positive sense of Church. Be committed to the teachings of the Church and to human dignity.
- Work well with others, be sensitive to persons with problems and be generous with time and energy in serving others.
- Be a man in good standing in the Church for at least 3 years and be an active member of his parish.
